Dear TESCO,

I am concerned about recent reports that TESCO's is buying medjoul dates and grapes and other produce from the Jordan valley in occupied Palestine. These products are labeled as 'produce of Israel. This is not only immoral but illegal under EU trade and labeling law.

I understand these products are grown on stolen land with stolen water in settlements also illegal under international law.

In addition I have seen evidence that child labour is used on these farms.

I ask that TESCO stop buying and supplying these illegal products.
